Look over the advertisers in this issue and give them not advertise. If their goods were not all right they

There is a new significance for Mississippians in the announcement this year of the annual Red Cross Roll Call, and it is fitting that our people should make a strenuous effort to put Mississippi well over the top in responding to his call. The roll call begins today, Nov.
11, and runs through to Thanksgiving Day, and the organization's work in saving the Mississippi Delta should alone stir our people to make a grateful response. Little Japan now leads us in membership in proportion to at heart—regardless of political affiliation, and his proposed Market Bureau Legislation is one matter over which there can properly be no discussion. Differences of opinion may arise as to details, but the past having shown so conclusively that Mississippi raises more of all agricultural products than can be disposed of advantageously by haphazard methods, the problem of profitable disposition of the fruit of the farmer's toil should engage the concerted efforts of all.

BE A ONE DOLLAR PARTNER

The citizens of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County will be reminded this week of the annual roll call of the American Red Cross, the great organization of relief in conflict and relief in disaster.

To be honest, as every editor should be in discussion any matter, we know very little about the administration of this organization, but we have no reason to believe that it is other than wise and just in its ordinary expenditures. Of course, everybody knows of its great relief work in Florida, the Mississippi Valley and elsewhere.

When disaster visits a section relief must be prompt if it is to be worth while. Victims of hurricanes and floods would suffer irreparably if they had to depend upon the creation of temporary relief committees, which would have to secure publicity to tell their story and if money came, learn how to spend it without waste, but at the same time, immediately in order to render emergency relief.

The American Red Cross is chartered by Congress.
It maintains chapters all over the nation. When overwhelming tragedy blights a community it is immediately active, giving assistance from its funds, or in enormous disasters, like the Mississippi flood, furnishing the channel through which to reach the public. Often, where local funds are adequate for relief, the Red Cross contributes the services of experts, who co-operate with those inexperienced in emergency relief.

The roll call is the only source of revenue from the public, and no other appeal is broadcast. In fact, only in the case of the two disasters mentioned above did the organization ask the public for special funds, and in each case every expense of the campaign to raise the money for the benefit of the suffering victims was met by the Red Cross from its own funds. In the Florida emergency the national organization had to dig heavily in its treasury to complete necessary relief.

Today the Roll Call begins. It will last two weeks.
In that time we feel sure that hundreds of citizens will be glad to keep this organization alive by paying, the small annual dues of only one dollar. Others will contribute larger sums but the success of the Red Cross depends upon the loyalty of millions of one dollar members. Surely you will be one.

BUYING AT HOME FOR CHRISTMAS.

There is every reason to believe Bay St. Louis stores will carry the usual Christmas stock of goods and every purchaser will embrace the opportunity to buy at home.
In fact, there is reason to believe, since our city has expanded, there will be more stock and variety than formerly, and the purchaser will find little or no trouble in making selection.

It has been our experience, quality considered, many things are to be had at home at price less than elsewhere, to say nothing of the inconvenience of buying away, and of the principle involved.

It is true, newspapers from other places coming into this city carry big advertisements, teeming with information, description and prices, and leads the prospective purchaser out of town, while the average merchant of the smaller town justifies his lack of publicity with the old and thread-worn statement he "can't afford to advertise."

Business people and the public do business differ-ently today from the old way. We notice it is the merchant and other business people who advertise get the bulk of business.

However, this is not intended as a dissertation upon advertising, but simply a gentle reminder of the fact Christmas is coming and buy at home. It will prove of duofold benefit.

Let us make this the biggest Christmas yet.

NEW ORLEANS TO BAY ST. LOUIS BY AUTO ROUTE.

With the aid of the New Orleans Times-Picayune and Governor Simpson's favor every indication points to early building of bridges over Chef and Rigolets and a road from New Orleans to Bay St. Louis covering the shortest distance possible between the two points.

It is authoritatively stated, if the highway commission of Louisiana finally adopts the present tentative road, passing through a point at or near Pearlington and through the Lower Bay road at least twenty-five miles of the present distance will be eliminated.

At present the way to New Orleans is entirely too long, a distance of some eighty-odd miles, whereas it is possible to reduce this considerably. While free bridges have been definitely decided upon and work in actual progress, the matter of a shorter route, we understand, has not been definitely settled. However, the hope is expressed it will soon be settled and the decision announced.

And let us hope, too, the matter of hard-surfacing is not far distant.

LOCAL RED CROSS DRIVE.

The people of Bay St. Louis and Hancock county have never failed to go over the top in every drive for a better world to live in, for suffering humanity and in general to ameliorate conditions.

Announcement is made the annual Red Cross membership drive is to begin today—Armistice Day, to close Thanksgiving. W. J. Leppert, general field representative for Southern Mississippi, was in Bay St. Louis this week and appeared Tuesday night before a meeting of the local Chamber of Commerce directors in interest of the drive.

George R. Rea is president of the Hancock County Chapter, and has appointed committees to enter the work incidental to the drive. The Echo is satisfied everyone approached will respond sympathetically and generously, as in the past, and in addition to sustain our interest in this work for humanity we will well go over the top of our quota. No need to say have your dollar ready when the representative calls. Your response is ready.

HUNTERS, BE CAREFUL!

About this time of the year the newspapers of the country contain frequent accounts of the accidental killing of people by those who, in their anxiety to kill game, mistakenly fire upon individuals. Very often these fatalities are caused by hunters shooting at "something moving" in the bushes. Too late, the discovery is made when the victim is dead.

We feel sure that the hunters of Hancock County are as careful as any, but the only way that accidents of this kind can be prevented is by impressing upon all the need of extreme caution. No man can be too careful in the use of a gun. It is a deadly weapon and should be handled with the greatest care.

The season for hunting is now in full swing and it is a common sight to see hunters in the fields and woods. It is a common sight to see hunters in the fields and woods. It is a common sight to see hunters in the fields and woods.

A TALK ON ADVERTISING ADDRESSED TO BAY ST. LOUIS BUSINESS MEN

Advertising is an interesting and important subject. Millions of dollars are spent every year by the advertising public for their products.
These merchants, who do not advertise themselves, often take it upon themselves to say that advertising is a waste of money. This is not so at all. The fact is that advertising is the only way to reach the public and to secure the success of such annual appropriations.

Most merchants of Bay St. Louis realize this truth. Many of them are regular users of the columns of The Sea Coast Echo. This advertising is as important in their business as is the national advertising of corporations which spend millions annually.
It should receive their careful attention weekly because an advertisement in this newspaper represents the advertiser to hundreds of readers. It should make a favorable impression.

There are, in Bay St. Louis, some few merchants who do not believe in what they call local advertising. They know that the argument is against them as far as national advertising is concerned.

The answer to such an objection is two-fold. It is based upon the assumption that everybody in our trade is anxious to please. This is not so at
all. The fact is that advertising is the only way to reach the public and to secure the success of such annual appropriations.

First, an advertisement is an invitation to the public to trade at a given place. It exhibits, on the part of the advertiser, a desire to make new business friends. It shows the public that the advertiser is anxious to please the public and that he wants its business.

Beauty—And Service.
What Will America Be?
Infantile Paralysis.
The Soil of Florida.
BY ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1927.)

The United States Labor Bureau says American women spend $5,000-000 a day, $1,825,000,000 a year, on beauty shops and aids to beauty.
Women spending the five million a day would be more beautiful if they kept the money. But spending it makes them happy, and happiness is worth its price.

Conrad Zeller, sixty-five years old, father of twenty children, retires from postoffice work on a pension of $60 a month. His average pay from Uncle Sam during twenty-eight years was $85 a month.

Not very generous from a country rich enough to let its women spend eighteen hundred millions a year on wrinkle eradication, face lifting, artificial curls and complexion.

Another step in travel by air. German and British idigrits, each of 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity, will race around the world next year.

They expect to make the trip in twelve days, with two stops for fuel.
That makes the world smaller than it was, and would interest Jules Verne.
The Germans, with new light Diesel engines in their dirigibles, will surprise the world.

What is America, as regards its people, what is it destined to be?
Indians were here first, Columbus came, then the Pilgrim fathers determined to worship God as they pleased and to make everybody else worship Him as they pleased. They would not recognize today's populations. The City of Chicago contains 450,000 Germans, 400,000 Poles, 300,000 Jews, 300,000 Irish, 200,000 Italians, 200,000 Bohemians and Czechoslovaks, 125,000 Swedes, 50-000 Norwegians, and 50,000 Greeks.
Not exactly what you would call "pure Nordic."

What type, what civilization will come out of that mixture?
Infantile paralysis should interest government, national, state and municipal, more than it seems to do.
There are 4,000 cases in the United States now. Nobody knows how the disease starts and spreads. The disease breaks out, nobody knows how or why, in dark city streets and in distant sunlit beautiful valleys, more than a thousand miles from either ocean and five thousand feet above them.

Such a mysterious disease among swine or cattle would be investigated and fought by the government emergently.

The Rockefeller Institute is doing admirable work, but a nation of 115-000,000 should not leave such a fight to the generosity of one man.

Forty Florida newspapers combined to publish, weekly, a special supplement, called "The Farm and Grove Section." It will supply people in and out of the State with full information about Florida's agricultural resources and the way to develop them.

Frank R. Hammett, of Jacksonville, will have charge of this useful work.

Wealth and fertility unlimited are in Florida's soil.
The "tourist" will always be one of the great Florida crops, but Florida in a few years will look back with wonder to the day when the tourist was the "principal" crop of the State, and its chief financial reliance.

Industries will be established and factories built throughout Florida as they are building now in California.
No one can estimate the future of that great State, only temporarily set back by real estate booming and foolishness.

Albert Edward Davies, 28, was told by doctors that his 3-year-old daughter had a case of acute pneumonia. It was only a few days ago that the child was in a dreadful agony. The father drowned her in the bathtub to end her suffering. "I couldn't bear to see her suffer any longer," he said when he gave himself up.

DR. FRANK CRANE

DON'T WORRY ABOUT OUR SPORT URGE.

Many say that the country has gone "football crazy."
They point out the fact that Rome's downfall was preceded by the gift to the people of games and bread.

The parallel between the bloody amusements of ancient times, however, and the football of today is not very close.

Football is a clean sport and the more energy people put out in sport they will be disposed to spend in war.

Football calls for the last ounce of physical strength, together with intellectual alertness.

Last year there was an attendance of 79,500 at the game between Stanford and Southern California. Fifty-five thousand saw the Harvard play, 70,000 watched Ohio State and about 75,000 seats were sold for the U. S.
C. Notre Dame game in Los Angeles.
Many applicants were rejected for lack of space.

The attendance of large groups at football games is a good omen and those who gather from this that the country is going to the dogs are mistaken.

One difference noted between other countries on the one hand and England and the United States on the other is that England's people play.
Sport is an institution and to be a good sport is a synonym of having a good disposition.

The children of France and Italy and Germany need to be taught more how to play, for play is the natural outlet of youthful exuberance and the more a nation plays intelligently the better off it is.

One of the excellent efforts of the Y. M. C. A. and similar organizations abroad has been to organize the boys and girls into play groups. Play of children abroad seems to take a more destructive tendency. A movement has made considerable headway in the United States to have teachers upon the playgrounds and to instruct the children in healthy sports as well as the three R's.

Although play is a good thing, and should be encouraged.

The more the principles of fair play are introduced into business the better off business, and the more business becomes a sport the more it will attract followers.

In cremating the dead, Germany leads, with Italy second and the United States third.

What is said to be the highest price

SILVER AND GOLD

"When your hair turns to silver, have some gold in the bank."

That old man you see on the street, aged and gray, with a few pencils to sell will tell you, never to lose sight of this homely saying because it means much to you—more than you realize.

A dollar or two put in our bank each pay day

Day By Day in Mississippi

By Helen Goodwin Yerger
(COPYRIGHT, 1927.)

Sea Coast Echo Jackson Hdqrs., Room 161, Lamar Life Ins. Bldg., Jackson, Miss., Nov. 9, 1927.

A week of deadly dullings, speaking from the point of view of the news gatherer, has brought politics and the approaching session of the legislature into prominent place in the public mind.

A phrase "politics has adjourned" is being read and heard in various connections and with an increasing frequency that the public welcomes as good, "if true." In connection there with, almost too obvious effort is being made to attach stigma to anything savoring of political activity of a type that puts personal interest above public weal—an effort laudable in the extreme if applied with "even handed justice" to both branches of the political family. There is, however, ample reason for believing that Mississippi's political millennium, when the lambs of the anti-faction shall lie down with the lion of the pro's, is little more than on the way, and that politicians are doing business at the old stands in the old ways with a few new frills and evidences of diplomacies that make the game well worth watching.

As usual, the "outs" are cutting corners to salvage every possible advantage out of the August wreckage and to "gum" the works as much as possible for the "ins," who, in turn, are taking stock of the political situation "as is" to find out just how much leeway they will find themselves allowed for the carrying out of the plans and policies pledged in last summer's campaign.

Mrs. R. L. Hogue, president of the Mississippi Art association, is announcing today the annual meeting of the organization, which boasts in the fifteenth of this month, coincidental with the opening of the annual 15-day art exhibit to be shown in the new Woman's Club building—the first time in the history of the organization that a really charming and suitable setting for the pictures has been possible. Announcements of entries are coming in from such widely separated sections of the country as Long Island and California, South Carolina and Texas.

The association has had a hard struggle for recognition and it still has the early days of its usefulness, but at many points in the state there has been interest evidenced in calls made to the extension department for assistance in assembling and hanging exhibits and a few others—notably Laurel, which boasts in the Laurens Rogers Memorial Museum, a permanent collection that compares most favorably with those of the large cities of the South, there is a feeling for and interest in art matters that argues well for the fostering work of the association.

That opportunity in Mississippi is calling to deaf ears seems apparent from the September and October reports of the Indianapolis Training Station for Flood Personnel, established primarily as an emergency measure, but now serving through co-operation with the State and Sunflower county health departments as training school for general public health work. This report shows that Mississippi is not furnishing her quota of trained men, which means that as public health work develops as it is sure to do more and more rapidly as its economic value is proved, this state will have to look outside for her personnel.

While the qualifications of trainees are a bit strict to insure a high grade of men and women for this most important work, the work itself is not arduous, and trainees are made during training, $5.00 a day, board and lodging included, and a small amount for pocket money.

Birthday Party at DeLisle.

At the beautiful residence of the Martinovich family, which is situated in the center of the lively little town of DeLisle, last Sunday evening took place a very entertaining and splendid birthday party in honor of the very pretty and intelligent little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cuevas, residing in Bay St. Louis. The room was beautifully decorated with the exquisite roses and flowers.

An elegant and delicious cake with ice cream awaited the guests which were quite numerous and gave their best regards and wishes to Miss Jacqueline Cuevas, the honoree. Lois, Mattie, J. C. Nease, Virgie, Verna, Majorie, Willard, Gavagnie, Roslyn, Sylvia, Martin Houston, Gerald Pavalini, Sadie, Eldora, Doris, Netto, George, Curtis, Peranich, Francis, Jackson, Esther, Saucier, Harold, Loyd, Archie, Sellier, Bernice Woodrow, J. D. Moran, Lee Coster.

Every one enjoyed the party and the souvenir of it will last quite a long time.

It was a beautiful lesson of friendship. So shall a friendship fill each heart with perfume sweet as roses are. That even though we be apart, We'll scent the fragrance from afar. A Friend.

Gulf View Has P. T. A.

Many generous donations were received, and everyone appeared to enjoy the recreation. Improvements on the school grounds will be furnished from the proceeds of the dance.

SCREEN VERSION BIGGER THAN PLAY. UNANIMOUS VERDICT OF REVIEWERS

"What Price Glory" Is Not Just a War Picture, But a Magnificent Love Story With the World Conflict as a Background For Its Human Drama.

Every decade there appears on the theatrical horizon a stage or screen presentation so powerful in its appeal, whether it be comedy or tragedy, that it at once radiates its fame to the remotest corners of the nation. It immediately grasps attention and becomes a byword and the topic of everyday conversation. Everyone will admit that there is no more positive proof of this than "What Price Glory." As a stage play it was a sensation. Now comes along that most powerful and searching of all agencies, the motion picture, and the sensation takes on all the wide and the greatest arousing energy of a furor. This is exactly what has happened to William Fox's screen presentation of this celebrated play, which comes to the A. & G. Theater for a two days' engagements, Sunday and Monday evenings.

The nation's foremost screen critics have been unanimous in their commendation of this motion picture masterpiece, declaring that it surpasses the celebrated play by Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson in every particular despite the greatness of the stage attraction.

It is proclaimed by all those in authority as the greatest motion picture of the year. It is not a war picture. War is its background. It is no more a war play than a love comedy laid in a sylvan setting, and the called a rural play. Its authors, who created the canvas on which to sketch their story; was as the great influence on men and women that would bring out paths, comedy and human appeal as no other crisis in the affairs of nations could bring.

Above all, there is comedy. Probably no picture ever made along the edge of a great world tragedy ever had so much comedy.

"What Price Glory" on the screen is peopled with real and human characters that will at once win favor. They are not just figures. They are the genuine thing in front of the camera, which makes no mistake.

"What Price Glory" is not only a great and absorbing picture, with thrills and heart throbs and a world of comedy, but it is crowded with incidents that bring a chuckle and a thrill long after the moment you see it.

Circumstantial Evidence Fails.

An almost perfect circumstantial evidence case was blown up in New York last week when a small boy admitted that he had accidentally knocked a shotgun from a chair and killed a sleeping girl.

The police had arrested a man who had made unwise threats following a family disturbance. He could not count for his time on the morning of the fatality and his general attitude seemed to indicate guilt.

While the authorities considered the case closed they did not attempt to cover up the later development, and when a detective got on the trail of the boy the younger denied all knowledge of the crime. Finally one officer, won his confidence, assuring him that the law would not punish him if the killing had been accidental, and the little boy broke down and confessed.

Further investigation convinced all investigators that the boy told the truth, that the killing was accidental, and the old man and the boy was released. But, if the little boy had not come forward with the truth, the old man would have had a hard time proving his innocence.

The Belgian Army has been reduced from 77,000 to 62,000 this year.

Scientists can tell you today what material make a man but not what they can make one. They may establish valuable truths as to certain chemical compounds which are present when men exhibit various moods, but to assume that these compounds cause the moods is to assume that present day scientists know all about the body, the mind and that there is no soul with anything like influence over the body and mind.

Our own guess is that when scientists discover that heavy men have sugar and that fear is sometimes removed by sweetness they are merely guessing the surface of the things about man that they do not understand. The next time they make a discovery they will find out that there are other controlling motives about which none of us know. Then some scientist of say 1939, will issue a statement to the effect that the sugar and synthetic character and may be back as far from the mark as Dr. Slosson.

Big business has its faults but ever and anon there is an exhibition of something bigger and finer than mere money-making.

Some time ago an investment bank-house of New York floated a bond issue for a coal company, which failed. Although not legally liable the investment company has written to representatives of the bondholders that it will make good all losses suffered by purchasers. This means approximately $300,000.

Hayden, Stone & Co., is the name of the investment company, which has made this unusual and generous offer. The matter is worth chronicling.

Dies to Answer Question.

The other day a young man, whose name does not matter, writing in his drab apartment in a large city, wrote the question: "What is Death?" and turning on the gas, crossed the river to find out for himself.

How many of us have pondered the same question without wishing to rush into the adventure? Men will think of death as long as they live, fight against it and do anything to avoid leaving the present world.

The instinct to live is the strongest that dwells in man. Philosophers have tried to tell us why, and failed. Religion, among almost every people, for almost all time, has said there is life after death, but some there are who refuse to believe what they cannot prove.

Explained.

Mother—There were two apples in the cupboard this morning and now there is only one. How do you account for it?

Son—It was dark in the cupboard and I didn't see the other one.—Boston Globe.
